

BARRE DAILY TIMES

Subscriptions: One year, $3; one month, 25 cts.; single copy, 1 cent.

Members of the Publishers' Press.—The latest telegraphic news from all parts of the world are received by the Daily Times up to the hour of going to press.

Frank E. Langley, Publisher.

Published Every Weekday Afternoon.

Entered at the postoffice at Barre as second class matter.

TUESDAY, JULY 5, 1904

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

3,225

All eyes are on St. Louis this week. The Democrats are gathered there in the most important political convention of the year. When it is over the convention season is ended.

The mayor of Stamford, Conn., ordered arrested all bicycle riders caught riding on the sidewalk, and the mayor was the first man taken into custody. He should compliment his police for their diligence.

If one were to judge by the noise, patriotism was at a discount yesterday, but the Times does not believe this to be so. The day was more generally observed in Barre than on any previous year, and while there was no public demonstrations, and the small boy did not appear to be so noisy the night before, the family gatherings, picnics, parties, etc., seemed to be more in evidence. The Fourth is just as glorious as it ever was.

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

Fish and Game Warden W. W. Tower of Rutland has had shot five valuable hounds that were caught running after deer out of season.

Prof. F. G. Ham, former principal of the Montpelier high school, has been engaged by the prudential committee as principal of the Randolph high school.

Aaron Bratton caught a big black bear in his trap on "Sherman hill" in Stamford recently. He was a fine specimen but had torn himself to pieces in his frantic struggles to release himself from the trap before found.

C. J. Bell of Walden, the Republican nominee for governor, left his home in Walden Friday for Ohio to attend the funeral Sunday of Col. J. H. Brigham, assistant secretary of the executive committee of the National Grange. Mr. Bell is secretary of this committee.

A woman was in the postoffice in Lyndon Wednesday to buy a few stamps. After making the purchase she looked at the postmaster for a minute, as if expecting something else, and finally asked "Don't you give trading stamps? A postmaster has various kinds of questions to throw at him, but this certainly must have been a surprise."

Elmer Manning, about 20 died at his home in Barre Friday as a result of a bicycle injury. He was coasting down a steep hill, and was found in an unconscious condition by the roadside, living only a few hours after the accident. It is supposed he lost control of his wheel, and was fatally injured when he was thrown to the ground.

EDUCATORS.

President Woodrow Wilson has written the introduction to the "Handbook of Princeton."

Dr. Horace Ellis, president of the Idaho state normal school, has accepted the offer of the presidency of Vincennes university.

Dr. G. M. Whipple of Danvers, Conn., has been appointed to a professorship in the department of science and art education at Cornell.

James B. Duke of New York and B. N. Duke of Durham, N. C., have just given $100,000 to Trinity college of Durham. The Dukes and their father, the venerable Washington Duke, have now given a total of $300,000 to Trinity.

Descendant of Mohammed.

A lineal descent of Mohammed lives the life of a small shopkeeper in Cairo, Egypt. The famous ancestry of the tradesman is familiar throughout the city and insures good trade, especially among the tourists. The shop is a very modest affair and the stock in trade is not large.

POST OFFICE NOTICE.

By reason of changes in railway train service, and until further notice, mail for Essex Jct., Burlington, Rutland, New York, St. Albans and the West, will close at 7:30 a. m., instead of 8:10 as heretofore.

The local mail south over the C. V. Ry. will close at 6:30 p. m., instead of 5:10. The noon mail going via M. & W. Ry. will close at 12 m., instead of 12:15 as heretofore. Edward W. Bisbee, Postmaster.

ANOTHER WRESTLING MATCH.

R. Ewen and Con. Sullivan to Meet July 16.

We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to wrestle a match, catch as catch-can style, best three in five falls, under same rules which governed Rose-Ewen match, Jerro Donahue of Northfield to act as referee. Said match to take place in Barre on the 16th day of July or as soon thereafter as suitable place can be secured for a purse of fifty ($50) dollars donated by W. H. Noonan, and the net receipts to be divided, seventy per cent going to the winner and thirty per cent to the loser.

R. Ewen,
Con. Sullivan.

We have been preparing longer than you have for his trip. We began months ago, selecting the designs, picking out the cloth, suggesting novelties in the cut and superintending the making—bearing in mind always the suggestions you made last season when you brought your boy here. Now, we can add to the boy's enjoyment of the trip and lighten your mind without lightening your purse very much.

WE CLEAN, PRESS AND REPAIR CLOTHING.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

Just a Hat.
A dozen cherries.
A bunch of grapes.
Some pears of various sorts and shapes.
A couple of apples.
A lemon or two.
Some plumage bequeathed With gummy dew.
A show for a fruiterer's window that—
But it's just the things On one summer hat.
—New York American.

A Philosophic Patient.
"So your physician tells you that you eat too much?"
"Yes."

"What are you going to do about it?"
"Well, that's a difficulty which can be attended to at any time. For the present I'm going to go ahead and be thankful that it isn't the inability to eat enough."—Washington Star.

Repartee.
Krix—Is it true that your father died on the gallows?
Knox—No. The story arose from the fact that he was present at the hanging of your father.
Krix—Oh, that was it? So there was something in the report, after all.—Boston Transcript.

It Always Is.
"What is the problem we must solve?"
We asked the statesman. We were stumped.
When quickly he made this reply:
"Just how to spend the campaign fund."
—Judge.

His Mistake.
He—She doesn't like me. I attempted to kiss her once.
She—How foolish of you! Why didn't you attempt to kiss her twice?

The Flute.
The flute took its name from the fluta, an eel caught in Italian waters which has seven spots like finger holes on its sides.

Stocking Up.
Get out the well known phrases And pearls of oratory.
Such as "Like one who gazes Down the vistas lit with glory,"
"The bulwarks of the nation,"
"The star that will not wane,"
"It's time for preparation—
We've opened the campaign."

Get "Movement of aggression,"
And "Party's peerless leader,"
"The shadow of secession,"
"From palm to pine and cedar,"
"The courage of convictions,"
"Our legislative halls,"
"Malicious, greed born notions"—
Shake out the campaign balls.

Run up "The grand old banner,"
Unsheathe "The gleaming saber,"
Rehearse the proper manner Of calling voters "Neighbor,"
Find "May my right hand wither If I forget my pledge!"
Go, bring these phrases hither To set our teeth on edge.

"The conflict, with its clamor,"
"The men of might and muscle,"
"The arm that wields the hammer,"
It's time that you should bustle. Awake, you campaign speakers! Get "With prophetic scan,"
And all you office seekers Get "Office seeks the man."

Get out the well known phrases. Let "Freedom tell her story,"
Get "Conduct that amazes,"
And "There she flies—Old Glory!"
Get "Helmets, true and steady,"
And "shall not be in vain."
It's time your speech was ready—
We've opened the campaign.
—W. D. Nesbit in Chicago Tribune.

TURKS BEGIN MASSACRE.

Kurds and Regulars Attack and Kill Armenians.

London, July 5.—A telegram from Tauris River, dated June 30, is printed in the Daily Chronicle as follows:

"It is announced from a perfectly reliable source that in the vicinity of Van, a fortified city of Turkish Armenia, on June 24 Kurds and Turkish regulars attacked Armenian travelers, killing them as revolutionists. This is the beginning of a general massacre in the province of Van. The people are in terror."

The Chronicle also prints the cablegram which American Secretary of State Hay received from Isfahan, Persia, July 22, signed by "Armenian bishops in Persia," saying that "Turkish barbarians are massacring thousands of Armenians" and humbly soliciting the "United States government, in the name of Christianity and humanity, to save innocent lives."

Independence Day Accidents.

New York, July 5.—Independence day celebrations are having their usual accompaniment of injury in every section of the city. Many persons have been burned by firecrackers, more were accidentally shot, and the fire department in Manhattan has been called upon to extinguish thirty-one fires, most of them small, and the majority started by exuberant but misplaced patriotism. Enough New Yorkers to populate another metropolis are spending the Fourth out of town. The triple holiday and the fine weather have drawn away from the noises of the city the largest crowds ever handled by the railroad and steamboat companies on any similar occasion. A conservative estimate places the number of excursionists at 300,000 or 400,000.

Devil's Rock Blown Up.

Trenton, N. J., July 5.—The Fourth of July was ushered in here by the blowing up of Devil's rock in the Delaware river. In the past seven years sixteen small boys have lost their lives while in swimming at this place. The rock projected twelve feet above the water and had a diameter of twenty-five feet. The rush of water caused a big hole to be washed out on one side, and into its depth small boys who could not swim would walk. John Kulp, electrician at the statehouse, had charge of the job.

Poisoned by Malted Sweets.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 5.—Suffering from symptoms of poisoning, believed to have resulted from eating chocolates received through the mail, Mrs. Pauline Andrews, who secretly wedded Assistant Comptroller John Andrews of this city in New York, is confined to her apartments in the Hotel Windsor under the care of a physician. In marrying Andrews the woman, who is some years her husband's junior, gave up a fortune which came to her through her first husband, Colonel Baird of Virginia. She was a Miss Stavro and for some years lived in Philadelphia.

The Colorado a Good Cruiser.

Philadelphia, July 5.—The new armored cruiser Colorado has returned to its dock at Cramps' shipyard after a successful builders' trial in the deep water just outside of Delaware breakwater. All on board were enthusiastic over the result of the trial, and the belief was repeatedly expressed that the contract speed requirement of twenty-two knots an hour will be greatly exceeded on the official trial. One of the officials in charge of the operating of the ship declared his conviction that she would be able to make very nearly twenty-two knots under natural draft.

Wireless Station Abandoned.

Colorado Springs, Colo., July 5.—Nikola Tesla has abandoned his wireless telegraph station which he established here in 1895, and the lumber has been sold to a party who will utilize it in the construction of a residence. A plumber has bought the pipes connecting the station with the city water system and with the Colorado Springs Electric company's batteries. The instruments will be shipped to New York. The station stood at an altitude of 7,000 feet, facing Pike's peak.

Three Doomed Vessels.

Chatham, Mass., July 5.—Three vessels ashore off this town will in all probability never sail again. They are the Gloucester fishing schooner Patriot, which struck on Shovel's shoal at high water late Saturday afternoon; the Calais (Me.) coasting schooner Viola May, which struck on Shovel's shoal about the same time the Patriot grounded, and the British barkentine Albertina, which went ashore on Chatham bar Thursday night.

Two Drown in the Merrimac.

Newburyport, Mass., July 5.—Augustus Campbell, twenty-one years old, and Miss Norah Hickey, twenty years old, both of Haverhill, were drowned in the Merrimac river at Black Rock, near Salisbury Point. The two left the shore in a small rowboat to go to a naphtha launch in which they had come down the river from Haverhill. When some distance from shore the boat capsized.

Dixon Called to Northfield.

Boston, July 5.—Rev. A. C. Dixon, D. D., Baptist, of this city has received a call to take charge of the Moody schools at Northfield, Mass. He is wanted as a successor to Rev. Campbell Morgan, who came from England to assume the duties, but recently returned to that country.

Senor De Lome Dead.

Paris, July 5.—Senor Dupuy de Lome, who was Spanish ambassador at Washington prior to the outbreak of the war between the United States and Spain, has died here of cerebral hemorrhage.

GOWN GOSSIP.

Spotted materials are very much worn.

There is every indication that the basque bodice will be the next thing worn.

A great deal of black velvet ribbon, threaded through lace or made up into little bows of many strands, is to be seen.

The newest summer frocks have elbow sleeves. They are very much beltonced and befrilled, producing a picturesque effect.

Some of the new petticoats in the finest muslins have lace edged deep flounces up to the very knees, interrun with ribbon attached to a yoke.

Onion white is one of the new pretty tones. It is, as its name implies, a greenish white, and it is clear and pale and pretty and a color that is immensely becoming to greenish blonds.

Curious purples, deep dark pinks and the colors which our grandmothers called puce and lavender and many old shades of red or touches of the brightest orange and vibrant yellow brighten up fashionable hats.—Brooklyn Eagle.

ODD HAPPENINGS.

Six young girls, all gowned alike, acted as pallbearers at the funeral of a companion at Chester, Pa., the other day.

Parts of the wreck of the Sirius, the first steam vessel to cross the Atlantic, which was lost off Ballycotton, County Cork, Ireland, in 1847, have just been recovered.

A Wyandotte county (Kan.) woman went on a visit to a Leavenworth friend. While there she accidentally sprained her ankle on the porch. Now the visitor has sued the hostess for $2,000 damages.

While the landlady of the Bell Inn at Totwell, England, was at dinner the other day an aerolite crashed through the chimney, spun round the room and exploded. Though the house was considerably damaged, the landlady escaped.

EXCURSION BOATS.

A little less paint on the tender and a little more attention to fireproof construction would make better excursion boats.—New York World.

Federal law is responsible for the safety of men, women and children at sea or afloat on tidewater, and federal law is disgracefully inadequate.—Philadelphia Press.

It is to be feared that the subject of safety on the water will soon be dealt with by the public authorities as negligently as it has been in the past.—Baltimore Sun.

Date Palms.

It is estimated that no fewer than 10,000,000 date palms are scattered from the mouth of the Persian gulf to beyond the region of Bagdad.

Japanese Names.

The Japanese name for a torpedo is sulral, literally "water lightning." A torpedo boat they call sulralrai, or "water lightning ship." A Whitehead mine they call gyokeisulral, meaning "water lightning in the form of a fish."

England's Oldest Organ.

England's oldest organ is in Barns bury Street Congregational church, Islington. It was built in 1660 for Westminster abbey.
